

Highlights

- T-FNO/U-Net trade-offs did not replicate in the cross-condition protocol.
- Cross-condition replication is proposed for operator-learning benchmarks.
- A model-level head bounds phase predictions during autoregressive rollout.
- A predeclared decision gate rejected a non-replicating observation.
- A divergence penalty improves conservation; transfer evidence is descriptive.